Dr. Marshall James Ney is a graduate of UK, received his Doctorate in Medical Dentistry from the University of Louisville and serves on the volunteer faculty at both universities. He is a member of both the Kentucky and the American Dental Associations. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Orofacial Pain, a charter member of the Academy of Dental Sleep Medicine, a member of the Kentucky Sleep Society and the Kentucky Pain Society.

In addition to Dr. Ney, who has been treating orofacial pain for 30 years, a team of specialists works with each patient to provide a customized, multi-disciplinary approach to resolving your pain issues. Our professional staff includes experts in:

Physical Therapy

Psychology

Neurology

Sleep Disorders

Rehabilitation Medicine

Each has over 15 years experience in their area of treating pain.
